Psalm 104:16-17 "The trees of the Lord are well watered, the trees of Lebanon that He planted. There the birds make their nests..."

Psalm 104:12 "The birds of the sky nest by the waters, they sing among the branches."

Those two verses mark the day that Betty and I have waited for all spring. The day that we can sit on the front porch with a fresh cup of coffee in our hands and my arm around her shoulder while we watch the world wake up. It all started about five in the morning, all is quiet and still. We wait for the first bird to sing his good morning song, and then we hear an answer from somewhere down the road, and another, and another, and another. In just a few minutes we are being entertained as the birds sing among the branches, and once again we are reminded that our God can take those little brown birds and bring His glory to our front porch. Surely He had this verse in mind when He gave us these words from Psalm 46:10 "Be still and know that I am God."

Thank You Heavenly Father for the beauty of Your creation, may every morning be a reminder of the splendor of your kingdom and Your love for each of us. Amen
